Francisco Hernandez, Lic., Senior Mediator, Ruth Maurice, Esq., Senior Mediator & Elizabet Williams, Esq., Program Manager II.

Ms. Elizabeth Williams- OMOS goal is to introduce OMOS’ services and help expand our view utilizing OMOS as a resource

Located at: 2310 North First Street Suite 100
San Jose, CA 95131

A Team comprised of 14 Senior Mediators and managers- All of whom are experienced and trained professionally neutrals. Newly renamed two years ago but the program has been in existence since 1977 and was formerly known as the Dispute and Resolution Program within the Office of Human Relations. Two years ago OMOS became an independent stand-alone office within the County Executive. Managing Director Brohne Lawhorne- has been with the department for over 20 years and continues to guide the counties only office which works on neutrality and conflict resolution.
OMOS offers 3 Key Pillars: Neutral Services, Organizational OMBUDS Services and Mediation & Conciliation Services- All of which are offered to County residents and employees at no cost. Beginning with Neutral Services- They are Conflict Coaching, Conflict Resolution and Communications Training, as well as providing Consents & Building Workshops, Action Planning Workshops and Facilitation of team Meetings & Discussions. OMOS is expanding to being a neutral resource to the many County agencies that support and serve the safety net population within the County. Many conversations about safety net populations and common thread themes such as housing are taking place in agencies throughout the County. OMOS has met with Housing in finding ways in which mediation and facilitation can be utilized by their clients. There is also an Employee assistance program to provide services to County employees so they can speak with their families in order to obtain County services such as care plans and housing for elder parents. OMOS has assisted with LGBTQ Organizations in working with youth in unstable housing situations with roommates and family members as well as to coach and train formerly incarcerated youth & LGBTQ youth to develop their voice so they can communicate their needs. Finally OMOS is finding ways to support the Board of Supervisors interest in family finding. Re-Entry services is partnering with OMOS to lead complex conversations about finding temporary housing solutions for newly released individuals and their families. A common thread is that OMOS leads difficult conversations and creates greater communication and connection through effective communication.

Ms. Katja DeGroot- Their Facilitating Communication program is a core function of OMOS because people who go to their office are frustrated or confused. Currently OMOS partners with 2 -larger complex agencies within the County. The Adult Custody Office of OMOS works with the Sheriff’s Office Custody Division to provide services to inmates and families, community members and staff. And the Juvenile Welfare Office of the OMOS, who works with Family & Children Services and Dependency Cases to work with families, foster families, bio parents, youth, staff and communities who are stuck in some way and are looking for a way to move forward.

There is also the Organization OMOS who appeal to the Standards of Practice (OMOS has 4 Standards) Neutrality, Confidentiality, Informality & Independence. As a neutral provider, OMOS facilitates all ways to resolve conflict by facilitating conversations, acting as a bridge, with the objective of trying to create a mutual understanding and helping people move forward within the system. They listen to the experiences people share and provide feedback to the system itself. Through conversations they learn about gaps and areas of disconnect where they help shine a light to make possible changes. In regards to reporting back to the Board of Supervisors on an annual basis, for the Adult Office is through the Public Safety Justice Committee and for Juveniles, it is to the Children’s Seniors Family Committee. In the Early Spring of 2020, both offices will be reporting out.

The Final Pillar of OMOS services for 30 years have been the Mediation and Consolation Program.

Mediation is a Face to Face resolution process; Conciliation is a phone assisted resolution process.
Juvenile Justice Commission
Meeting Minutes – December 3, 2019

The Santa Clara County Community Program invites cases brought by County residents and community members on all subject matters; business disputes, neighborhood disputes, housing issues (i.e. landlord/tenant, security deposits) and unlawful detainers. All county residents may utilize these services. The mediation program that is designed for County employees and agencies, addresses communication breakdowns and disharmony between work colleagues, teams and clients. There is also a Pre-Day Court Mediation program where county community members can mediate small claims, civil harassment and probate matters before their day in court as well as, mediate matters pertaining to children, seniors and family. The OMOS long standing Restorative Justice Program includes the Victim Offenders Mediation Program.

Ms. Ruth Maurice-The Victim Offenders Mediation (VOM) Program is cost free, confidential and voluntary. It is restorative justice practice which means it provides empowerment to the parties to come to a resolution or, in the alternative come up with one that is most meaningful to the parties themselves. It has been a core program since 1998. Most referrals come from the Juvenile Justice System which is approximately 80-90%. The mediation program also receives referrals from the DA’s Office. Occasionally a Parent-Youth Mediation Referral from Probation comes in and or some self-identify when they are conducting Mediation consultation. Referrals are sent through the Probation Department’s Victim Assistance Team. For court cases it is automatic for all non-707B offenses. OMOS is happy to include 707B offenses if attorneys agree. And at the time all the referrals are post juris. Non-court probation matters such as PEI use this service as a way to resolve restitution issues since there is no court oversight. Most common offenses that go to mediation are: Car Theft, Residential Burglary and Vandalism. As the complied 2018 data reflects that there were 316 offenders and 382 victims. Mediation empowers a victim and allows for them to directly inform the youth of the impact the incident had on them and their family and receive acknowledgement. Very often victims have questions that were never answered because they did not have the opportunity to go to court and or there was not a trial. Some of their questions are: “Was I targeted?”, and “Was my house targeted?” Being able to ask such questions and get the answers leaves them feeling assured regarding their security which allows them to move on and feel empowered by receiving some accountability. Many victims, who do accept mediation, are interested in having an impact on the life of the youth. This is often the main reason they accept mediation. By giving the youth an opportunity to show accountability and offer their victims an apology it may steer the youth into making better decisions. The offender also gains empowerment through accountability because this is voluntary which allows for them to step up and do the right thing. They are benefited by the opportunity to sit across the table from someone they have harmed. The prospect is difficult even for adults let alone a youth. In that process the youth gains awareness of how their family and community are secondary victims which could help improve the relations within the youth’s family by helping reduce tension in the home, which may have slow effect on the youth’s behavior outside the home. Evaluations are given for those participating in face-to-face mediation. Last year the evaluations documented a 4.5 score for feedback regarding satisfaction with the process. The OMOS has taken a look at 5 programs with similar mediation services to look at recidivism satisfaction. The programs all report a reduction in recidivism for VOM as opposed to Non-VOM control groups reporting even greater recidivism reductions in the more serious crimes, against person vs. property. Three Counties, who have looked at the effects of restitution or payment, have all found significant increases in repayment in restitution resulting from face to face conversations vs court orders.

When a crime occurs there is generally a prosecution. What was interesting in an interview on NPR, Chanel Miller, the victim in the Stanford University Swimmer Sexual Assault Case, wrote a book about being a victim in the jury process and was asked, “What would Justice have felt like to you?”

“You know, in the beginning, when I learned he had been caught, I thought this would be very simple, that if you’re caught doing something, you apologize for what you did, because you know you cannot wiggle out of the situation. So I was expecting some acknowledgement of what happened, that he would announce his accountability and say sorry for the harm he did, and I was prepared to accept that apology, in the very beginning.

“I believe that people can learn, but only if they confront their own behavior and recognize the harm and effect they have on others. But until they do that, they cannot move on. So, ideally, that would have happened in the very beginning. I would have said ‘Thank you. Never do this again,’ and if he understood that, you know, I believe we both could have moved on. But, instead, he pushed back and pushed back for the next 3-1/2 years.”

What was found interesting was that if this victim would have received acknowledgement from the beginning she would have been able to move on.

Francisco Hernandez- Evaluations after mediations are conducted in order to assess and improve the programs as it allows parties to rate and comment about the programs. There are handouts provided that look at themes of: Apology, Having a Voice, Greater Understanding and also looking at some of the themes that were gleaned from the victims comments: Being Accountable, Expressing Ourselves, Appreciation for Opportunity.

A video and audio is shown. The Video is from a Victim’s point of view and the Audio presented was a Youth Offender.

The Victim- A target of an attempted carjacking; The Victim was offered mediation and he accepted for several reasons, the first was pure curiosity (try to understand what had happened and make sense of it all). The second was for the offender to see him, the victim as a human being and third, was that the victim felt he could have a positive impact in some way. In the beginning he victim was sceptical but soon after he participated he could tell the youth was repentant. Both spoke for over an hour, frankly and the victim felt that the mediation process was positive for both of them.

The Youth Offender who participated in a car theft and residential burglary- The offender was appreciative of being offered the program that allowed for him the opportunity to apologize. It allowed for him to see the victim’s perspective and for him to learn that his actions have an effect on other people’s lives. He was most appreciative that this process gave him the opportunity to apologize to the victim face to face.
Conclusion of the presentation and all services and programs are available to individuals and employees as well as departments and agencies and more information can be found online: www.sccgov.org/omos

Youth Commissioner Parakh asked the following: Are there any plans of evaluating Santa Clara County to obtain recidivism rates?

Ms. Williams responded a summary evaluation was conducted in 2018 and previously in 1999. OMOS would be happy to help to assist if it proved to be a lot of work for Probation, in that the ability to obtain such data is not available to OMOS. His second question was what is the process if the offender is referred but the victim refuses to work with VOM? Ms. Williams responded it happens frequently and out of the youth offered mediation and subsequently interviewed only 43% say yes. After that they then reach out to the victims. Of the victims who respond only 20% will say “yes” to mediation. Of those who don’t accept the referral gets closed.

Commissioner Manchester opined that the videos shown during the presentation should be put on the website.

Commissioner Walton asks if Mediation has been offered within the school system. Ms. DeGroot stated 8 years ago they were working in the school system and would be happy to begin that work again. Mr. David Putney (COE) chimed in and stated that COE has a Restorative Justice Practice and has trainers at COE that work with districts around the County making the potential collaboration more likely to be successful within the county.

Chair Hansen thanked the presenters and moved to the second portion of the agenda having to do with reports.

Nisreen Younis asked a question about the new recording capabilities in Juvenile Hall and wanted clarification if the audio/visual recording was inside each of the units and what is being recorded. Mr. Birchard responded that there would always be video but now there is capability of audio. However, they are not sure how the audio may work because of the acoustics in Juvenile Hall so what will be recorded is yet to be determined. It is meant to protect the staff, the youth and everyone in case anything happens resulting in an investigation. It is not set to be intentionally recording just the youth Chair Hansen asked if there is a County Technology Use Policy. Mr. Birchard responded yes there was one. Commissioner Rhoads asked how this would be managed in relation to confidential consultations with defendants and attorneys. Mr. Birchard responded there would be no cameras/audio inside consultation rooms.

Department of Family & Children Services: Wendy Kinnear-Rausch reported on the following:

- Moving away from having a receiving center.
- No group homes in the State of California and there are no Santa Clara County youth in group homes.
- Group homes have been replaced with a therapeutic and placement treatment option.
- Challenges are that there are far fewer of these treatment models than there are children needing treatment thus resulting in several long months of waiting to get into such programs, causing the Receiving Center to have long lengths of stay.
- Another concern is having older children with acute needs housed in the same setting as younger children and or siblings that had just been removed.
- DFCS, Behavioral Health & Probation have partnered in looking at options to build resources and move away from shelter care.
- Since September 30, 2019 DFCS has been keeping newer kids coming into care and younger children in separate facilities, having children go into placement within 23 hours and 59 minutes.
Engaging in more care coordination options and building up resources for those children with more acute needs.

The next report to the Board of Supervisors will be on December 10th, 2019.

DFCS is increasing the support to caregivers and building up options with contracted care providers. Receiving technical assistance from the State and partnerships with other agencies such as the San Andreas Regional Center and is looking at other counties for further ideas.

Increasing training for staff looking at structural changes within the department in hopes of getting children quickly into placement. As well as providing better support to family and caregivers ready to step up.

Goal is to keep kids with acute needs safely supported in the community and both in the home and in a therapeutic setting.

Judge Lucero asked if there are monthly reports given out on the number of children in care sent to the Commission. Ms. Rausch stated she wasn’t sure but could follow up. Commissioner Blake informed the committee that she had been getting them as she is a part of the Child Abuse Council but that they were not being given to the Commission. Judge Lucero then requested monthly reports of all the out of home placements, all detentions and how many kids are being placed out of county and in group homes.

Ms. Rausch responded there are none in group homes in or out of the County but have some in STRTP placements both out of county and out of state. Judge Lucero then asked if she knew how many kids were in out of home placements. Ms. Rausch responded she does not have that exact number as it is constantly changing but would ensure to get the report to the committee as well as MNDs. Commissioner Blake also suggested getting the report that the Child Abuse Council obtains as it has data on length of stay and other information. Ms. Rausch did inform the Committee of the numbers she ran for the report that would be provided to the Board and indicated that there were 6 kids at the receiving center with more acute needs, 2 were going to go to Placement within a day or so and 1 by the end of the week which would leave 3 at the receiving center. There are currently no children at the KEIKI Center and as of November all children who came to the KEIKI Center (only 10% are placed at the Receiving Center) were placed within 23 hours, demonstrating a lot of energy and effort being placed into getting children placed. And 23% never came to the KEIKI Center at all and went straight from hospital/removal to a relative, nonrelative or caregiver.

Judge Lucero asked if reports get broken down into relative, nonrelative, caregiver. Ms. Rausch stated yes it does.

Behavioral Health – Mental Health Services: No report.

Behavioral Health – Alcohol and Drug Services: Veronica Robles reported on the following:

• December 16th, 2019 will be the official date for the Integrated Assessment Summary (Integrated Assessment stands for the Mental Health and Substance Abuse Summary combined into one) to be available to all youth 14 to 21 days post detention. The Summary will be given to Defendant’s Counsel and sealed.

- All youth will be assessed and the goal is to share the information. Still trying to figure out the logistics as this is new and had not been done before.
- This will help cut down on Psych Evaluations and SUTS Assessments. The information will be given to the youth’s attorney and Behavioral Health will be making recommendations for the level of treatment in hopes the information could be shared with Probation and the courts.

- 90% of youth at Juvenile Hall have received the flu vaccine.
- 97% of parents have signed the consents for youth at the Ranch to obtain vaccines but 35% amongst the boys have declined to obtain the vaccines due to hearing rumors that it will make you sick.

A question was asked by Commissioner Hansen regarding having counselors encourage youth to get the flu vaccine. Chia-Chen Lee stated she would make that recommendation to the counselors.
